

Nirvikar Singh

Professor Nirvikar Singh is currently the Director of the Business Management Economics Program at the University of California, Santa Cruz, where he is Professor of Economics. He was a founding co-director of the Santa Cruz Center for International Economics (SCCIE), which sponsors research and seminars on key policy issues in international economics. He served as lead co-director of SCCIE in 2001-2003.

Professor Singh served as Chair of the Department of Economics from 1992 to 1995, and Director of Economics Graduate Programs from 1990 to 1992. His visiting research appointments have been at Stanford University; Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies, Australian National University; National Institute for Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi; Indian Statistical Institute, Delhi; Centre for Development Economics, Delhi; and Erasmus University, Rotterdam. He has consulted for high-tech start-ups in Silicon Valley, and also served as an academic advisor to several companies.

Professor Singh received his PhD from the University of California, Berkeley, and his BSc and MSc from the London School of Economics, where he was awarded the Allyn Young Prize, Gonner Prize and Ely Devons Prize.

Professor Singh's current research topics include governance and economic reform in India, federalism and political economy, electronic commerce, business strategy, technology and innovation, international technology transfer, international water disputes, and economic growth in South and East Asia. He has authored over 70 research papers on these and related topics in economics. His book, "The Political Economy of Indian Federalism", co-authored with M. Govinda Rao, will be published soon by Oxford University Press.

oooOOOooo